Jack Johnson Wednesday night in Philadelphia. There is one more thing to compare, and that is courage. Bob Fitzsimmons is a man absolutely without fear. Even in his second battle with Jim Jeffries, the greatest heavyweight that ever lived, Fitzsimmons fought with supreme confidence until he was finally knocked out. In a losing fight he is the gamest and the most that was not long ago the greatest in all the world, but y now be an uncertain quantity.

In this Johnson is different. He isn't game. Many of his long-winded lights against men with only a fraction and in that case he will have little fights against men with only a fraction of his cleverness and physical strength have proven this beyond the possibility of a doubt. Add gameness to Johnson's strength and skill and he'd be a champion.

When Fitz fights Johnson he'll be a middle-weight fighting a big heavy-weight. Fits has fought as a middle-weight for years and has been matched against the giants of the ring. He has whipped Corbett and Sharkey and Ruhlin, all great heavy-weights, and has won his battles with knockouts.

Winning means a lot to Johnson. It means more to Fitz, perhaps, than to the younger man. A victory would bring back his lost laurels in the only profession he ever knew and took pride in If Fitz wins this fight, disposes of the younger "champions," he will become in a moment the popular hero of ten years ago. And that's something worth fighting for when a boxer has passed the forty mark.

weight-thrower of the New York Ath-letic Club, established a new world's record yesterday afternoon in throwing the 16-pound hammer at the Tipperary Men's games at Celtic Park. He hurled the missile 175 feet 8 inches, beating the record mark made by his cousin, John Flanagan, three years ago,

BASEBALL COURT HEARS KELLY Case

of Playing Manager M. J. Kelley, whose experiences during the past two three years have included a resort to the federal courts and numersion, was again passed on by the commission in a decision given out to-day.

Kelley was removed from an American League game in Chicago, the umpire acting on orders from President Ban Johnson, who claimed that Kelley had been reserved by the St. Louis Americans and that he was further disqualined by the American Association in December, 1966.

St. Louis having falled to include kelley's name in its list of reserved players, the commission by a majority vote holds that Kelle is a free agent insofar as the St. Louis claim is concerned. As to the other claim of the player, the commission announces that it has no jurisdiction at this time and could only have jurisdiction on an appeal by the player from the action of the American Association. Phesident Ban Johnson, of the American League, files as minority finding in which he maintains that the National Commission cannot under any dreumstances have jurisdiction in the case.
